ASSOCIATE MISSIONAL PRESBYTERS AND PASTOR TO PASTORS

The new presbytery structure is beginning to take shape.

March 28, the three Associate Missional Presbyters (AMP) and the Pastor to Pastor began serving in their new positions. The objective of this new structure is to help further the vision of a reproducing presbytery.

Each AMP is responsible for a specific region of churches. The AMPs are charged with promoting and facilitating a healthy ministry in their respective region. They will be looking for ways to support your congregation.

The Pastor to Pastor will be supporting the ministers in the presbytery. He will be attending Regional clergy gatherings, will be a spiritual resource, and will be available in times of need. The Pastor to Pastor and the AMPs will be contacting you soon.

Region One AMP Rev. Bryan Wenger is the Associate Pastor at Indian River PC. Bryan has served as a solo pastor for the Upsala Community PC, a small church in Stanford, Fl. Bryan was a CPA before answering a call to ministry in 1998. He graduated from Pittsburg Seminary. Bryan has served the presbytery on COM and HRC.

Region Two AMP Rev. Dr. Leon Lovell-Martin has served as the Pastor at Myrtle Grove PC since 1997. Leon also served at Alta Vista PC. Leon recently completed his doctorate at Florida Atlantic University with a concentration in Human Resource Development and Organizational Leadership. Leon has served the presbytery as Moderator, Chair of Council, COM, PJC, GA Commissioner, Synod President of Association of Smaller Congregations and many other committees and programs.

Region Three AMP is Rev. Edwin Gonzalez-Gertz, Member-at-Large. Edwin served as the Pastor and Church Revitalization developer at Cypress PC. Edwin has an extensive background in immigration, social services, Head Start, educational training and teaching college level courses. Edwin has a BA in Social and Behavioral Science from University of South Florida, attended Trinity Evangelical Divinity School, and completed his MDiv at S Florida Center for Theological Studies in 2005. Edwin has served the presbytery on the Multicultural Committee, is Chair of Evangelism and a member of two Administrative Commissions.

Pastor to Pastor is Rev. Kernie Kostrub, Pastor at Glades PC since 1990. Kernie has served churches in Gainesville, FL, Fairbanks, Alaska, Doylestown, PA and New York City. He is a graduate of Fuller Seminary. Kernie has served the presbytery as Moderator of Administrative Commission, Coordinator of Covenant Group, FRC Chair, Council, Region 2 liaison, and the Evangelism Committee.

PRAYERS

- The people of Japan
- The people of Libya and other countries striving for change
- The people of Egypt starting to rebuild their government
- The people of Haiti recovering and rebuilding
- The caring people and agencies seeking to serve the underserved
- For the care givers and home bound
- For the PCUSA Churches and ministers

Please join me in praying for the presbytery's churches and ministers. The New Form of Government, Amendment G-6.0106b, and Confession of Belhar votes are being posted weekly. There is a steady conversation about "what if?" The days ahead will test members of this presbytery and we need to keep each other in prayer. Please join me as I intentionally pray each day for the individual churches and ministers in the Presbytery of Tropical Florida. I am praying the Holy Spirit will guide us through this time, for we do not know what lies ahead.

REGION 3 UPDATE

We are so blessed that at times do not see it! Just in the last few weeks we have seen God doing great things in our Region 3. Miami Shores held a great Missions Conference, pastors were commissioned, installed and a church was chartered. Yes, a new sister church was born; Korean Central Presbyterian Church was chartered and Pastor Jun-Ho Kim was installed. At that very same time, further south in our region Kim Kavazanjian was commissioned at Central Presbyterian Church. That was just in one Sunday.

I pray every day that God will inspire us to look for God's blessings. We should look for opportunities to be a blessing to others by looking outside our churches, and outside of ourselves and see the thirst, the hunger of those seeking a spiritual life; seeking Jesus. That may just be a starting point to transform from a reducing presbytery to a reproducing presbytery; from declining churches to healthy reproducing churches. When we decide to dream the dreams of God, when we decide to adopt God's vision for our local congregations we will begin to experience God in new ways. Shifting from our desires and attempt to discern God's desire is a transforming act in itself. I know God wishes for us to multiply, I know God has given us a message in Jesus Christ, I know God has given us the power through the Spirit to accomplish great things for the kingdom. Let's get it going!

Let's get together and share dreams and visions in the Holy Spirit at the Region 3 Pastors Luncheon will be on Tuesday, April 5th, 2011 at Riviera Presbyterian Church from 11:30AM to 1:30PM. We will have fellowship, devotions, exchange ideas, dreams and visions, and of course, great food. Please RSVP to Edwin at edgiosa@yahoo.com

Let's also count our blessings one by one!

REFLECTIONS FROM A CANDIDATE

ON A JOURNEY IN THE CRUCIBLE OF SEMINARY

Dustin Sterrett

A crucible is defined as "a severe test, as of patience or belief, or a trial." I have been challenged and tested as in a "crucible" these past four years. I do not want, to crush or belittle God's work in me, but God has used these seminary years to equip and hone my heart and head so that I may be all that God desires. There were times of frustration and questioning, but they led to a deeper understanding of God's Word and the mission of the church. Since beginning my formal training, I have come to a greater knowledge and commitment to God's Kingdom work of reconciliation as an Ambassador of Christ (2 Cor. 5:17-21). But this is getting ahead of myself, as my journey began many years before I entered seminary.

I am indebted to many who urged me to trust in God's faithfulness and to those who helped prepare me for the transforming experience of seminary. My youth minister was the first to tap me on the shoulder and ask if I had ever considered God's call on my life. After an arduous season of ministry in North Carolina, God used a former missionary to fan the flame by urging me to consider answering the call to serve as the Director of the Youth in her church in Fort Pierce (Indian River Presbyterian). The former pastor, Dr. Sam Rutland, took a huge risk on this young 25 year-old by asking me to give my first sermon. After that sermon one of the members took me aside to ask when I was going to take the next step along the journey and go to seminary. (Little did they know that they would become my sponsor in the ordination process?) After an interim process and after assisting the newly installed pastor with his next steps for ministry in the church, I began to sense it was time to follow God's next steps by going to seminary. These events and many more numerous divine relationships over the years provided the support, encouragement, and accountability I so desperately needed in order to take up my cross and follow Christ! But where should I go to follow?

I knew I wanted to go to a top seminary. I began my research knowing God would lead the way. I just needed to trust and follow. My wife, Leslie, is Cuban and she was very willing to move "anywhere" there was not snow...hmmm. I knew her strong connection to family and her requirement for warm weather would require God's grace and moving. I considered three schools but kept hearing strong recommendations for Asbury Theological Seminary in Orlando. Since it was not Presbyterian and was Arminian I quickly wrote it off - or so I thought. My wife and I prayed for a year and a half, and "Asbury" kept coming back again and again. Reluctantly, I visited the campus and immediately felt at home. Although it would require a two hour drive each way, at least once a week, but the direction of God seemed clear, Asbury was to be the place that I "leaned into" the transforming process of formal discipleship.

My first class on campus was "Kingdom, Church, and World". I was amazed at the professor's knowledge and humility, as well as his desire to inspire the class to love God by wholly trusting God's very Spirit! One class after another added another tool for ministry or developed my understanding and connection to the catholic Church. I was challenged individually and corporately academically, theologically, and relationally. One interesting reality at the Asbury-Orlando campus is that 85% of the students live an hour or more away. The traditional model and experience of most was not feasible for the 300 students day-in and day-out. We had to be very intentional in our relationships and leverage the time we had on campus to encourage one another in our growing to be more like Christ. The disadvantages to this commuter model are numerous: less one-on-one time with students and professors, cost of travel-as some even traveled by air, and scheduling of classes on certain days, etc., but there were wonderful benefits as well. Most of the students were in part-time/full-time ministry. This allowed them to keep one foot in "ministry" and one in "academia". The discussions were in-depth and due to the diversity in ethnicity and Protestant theological traditions (e.g. Episcopalian, Methodist, Assembly of God, Baptist, Presbyterian) I learned much from our sisters and brothers in Christ. This added to the instant evaluation of the methods propounded since many had several years of ministry experience which presented challenges for our professors. Once again, though, they taught with a fear of the Lord and a boldness -from God who had called them to prepare the next generation of pastors. It truly was a kairos season.

I had the opportunity to serve the Asbury community as a student representative and president for three of the four years. As I began to understand the challenges of the commuter context I enabled others to focus on the 2-3 vital areas that would have the greatest impact on this season of preparation. I had the privilege to serve alongside some amazing women and men as we sought to serve our community in small yet tangible ways.

I am so grateful for God's patience with me. God's goodness to me at Asbury will never be forgotten. This season of growth has equipped me to take the next step in empowering others to follow Christ more faithfully with their whole life! May God be most glorified to the highest, by the gracious work of the Father, Son and Spirit through my life and the community of faith.

SHARI'S SHOUT OUT

GA annual statistical reporting was completed with 95% of our churches being reflected. Our sincere thanks to those who assisted with the overall effort! Three churches did not report – same as last year, only a different three. We still covet 100%, perhaps next year? The Clerks Annual Questionnaire may still be completed on line.

Luncheon will follow in the Fellowship Hall. All are invited. For additional information, please call (305) 371-3439.

PRESBYTERY-WIDE MULTICULTURAL EVENT

Rev. Dr. Raymond Anglin

On Saturday, March 5, 2011, some sixty persons representing a wide cross section of our Presbytery, gathered at the Plantation Presbyterian Church in Plantation, to share in what has been described as a wonderful evening.

It began with the host church led by their pastor David Massey, welcoming us and creating the atmosphere for a “multicultural experience”. Jeff Waycott and the Praise Team from Glades Presbyterian Church moved us into worship and set the stage for our continuing experience.

As our anticipation deepened we received a special oratory selection from young Brianna Mitchell from Goodwill Presbyterian Church and a folk song duet from Sybil Peart-Lyon and Barbara Martin representing Ascension Peace and Myrtle Grove Churches.

Guided by our theme: “Speaking the Truth in Love...continuing the Conversation” a panel of persons carefully chosen, shared personally, openly and honestly their experiences from their racial ethnic contexts. They were Diane Shoaf, Edwin Collado, Robert Coleman, Barbara Martin, Yolande Pierre and Musarrat Nasir with Jonas Georges moderating.

This evolved into a very lively, informative, sensitive and open conversation between the panelists and the audience which concluded with celebration around the Lord’s Table.

Having been spiritually served we moved from the sanctuary to the fellowship hall where we enjoyed a variety of scrumptious ethnic dishes, desserts and drinks.

It was indeed a wonderful evening and the Multicultural Network Task Force joins me in thanking all who contributed to making it so.

HAITIAN EARTHQUAKE MISSION UPDATE

Pat Ashley

Each month in our presbytery’s newsletter, an aspect of our Haitian earthquake response will be highlighted. This month we focus on the work of All Nations Presbyterian Church, North Miami Beach.

The church has been working with Haitian students, some of whom are earthquake survivors, to adapt to the school system, providing counseling and (with the help of presbytery funding) over 200 backpacks of school supplies for the opening of the school year. Jonas Georges, the pastor, has been involved with those who find their way to the church, referring them to help. Sometimes, with the aid of PDA (Presbyterian Disaster Assistance) funding, the church has provided rental assistance. The church offered a tutoring program in which 36 earthquake survivors participated. It also sponsored a party during the holidays for contacts from the tutoring program and from those who came for help. The church is a center of activity for the community, open to receiving both people in need and those who want to partner in offering help. The community looks to the church and to the pastor to be able to respond, and the church is committed to accommodating the community in the name of the church. The pastor appears periodically in the local media, especially radio. Most recently he has been on a program aired on Island TV and another program on Channel 2.

An interview with pastor Jonas Georges yielded the following impressions concerning the impact of the earthquake on Haitians currently in South Florida:

- Those with psychological trauma from the earthquake have gone largely untreated, but could become more accessible if presented in the right way;
- Housing will be a major factor for survivors in the coming year;
- Keeping children in school can be an important force for recovery;
- Job placement is a key need for the coming year.

HUNGER ACTION

Jesus said, "You give them something to eat." (Mark 6:37)

By Rev. Amy Baer

I have been present in South Florida food pantries lined with empty shelves just moments before opening their doors to masses of hungry people. Yet by God's grace, I have never witnessed the closing of one of these food pantries for lack of food. How is this possible? It is possible because every day, God is inspiring and equipping ordinary people and congregations to serve the hungry in extraordinary ways. The food pantries and soup kitchens in our Presbytery, serving thousands of hungry people daily, are modern - day examples of feeding the multitudes.

This year, as we continue on our journey toward becoming a reproducing Presbytery, my prayer for us all is that this mission will find expression in hunger action. Above and before all things, I hope we will all join in prayer for God's direction and inspiration in these hard times. If you or your congregation feels called to engage in hunger action this year, here are just a few ideas for you:

Collect: Participate in the Cents-a-bility Offering

Simply add a special collection of loose change to your worship service once a month. Last year, the congregations of Tropical Florida Presbytery raised over $17,000 through the Cents-a-bility Offering, and this money was distributed directly to local congregations and non-profit agencies serving the hungry here in South Florida. If your church chooses to participate, please send these collections directly to the Presbytery Office, marked for the Cents-a-bility offering.

Donate: Commit to food donations for a local food program

There is undoubtedly a food pantry or soup kitchen in the neighborhood of your congregation. Call them, ask them what they need, and conduct a canned food drive or commit to preparing and serving one dinner a month. Call or e-mail me at abaer@crosmministries.org for a step-by-step guide to conducting a food drive and a list of food programs in your area.

Communicate: Conduct an Offering of Letters with Bread for the World

Bread for the World is a collective Christian voice urging our nation's decision makers to end hunger at home and abroad. U.S. Representatives from districts within the bounds of our Presbytery are among those who will be key policy makers on foreign aid programs this year. For a free download of Bread for the World's 2011 Offering of Letters Kit, go to http://files.bread.org/dmngood/ol2011/OL2011_Handbook.pdf. This kit unpacks all of the details about the 2011 Bread initiative, seeking to make our U.S. foreign aid distributions more efficient, transparent, and accountable.

Please call or e-mail me for any resources or questions; I am always available to assist you. Please also let me know if you decide to continue participating in hunger action and/or if you choose to engage in a new form of hunger action. Your Hunger Task Force needs to know about the programs and initiatives that touch your heart.

TRAINING MIDDLE EASTERN PASTORS

Some churches in the Tropical Florida Presbytery are forming a partnership with the Evangelical (Presbyterian) Theological Seminary in Cairo, Egypt. Would your church be interesting in continuing a 150+ Presbyterian commitment to God's church in the Middle East? For more information, please contact Rev. Bryan Wenger.
